NORFOLK, October 25.—The steamer Chas. W. Lord, of Philadelphia, from Havana with tobacco, sugars and molasses for New York, encountered a hurricane off Frying Pan shoals Tuesday night, during which her bows were stove in and her head-gear injured. On Wednesday she spoke schooner H. W. Drew, of Belfast, Ireland, for St. Johns, Florida, having on board the crew and passengers of the steamer General Barnes, which cleared at Savannah, October 19, for New York and foundered that morning off Cape Hatteras. General Barnes is a total loss; her passengers and crew remained on board the schooner Drew.

The City of Houston was an iron steamship of 15,100 tons burthen, 285 feet in length, 33¼ feet wide, with a depth of hold of 13 feet.

SEVENTY PERSONS ADRIFT.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA., October 26.—The steamer City of Houston, Captain Stephens, from New York for Galveston, went down near Frying Pan shoals on the morning of the 23d. She encountered a gale the previous night, which caused the vessel to spring a leak. There were about seventy persons on board, fifty being passengers, who all took to the boats at daylight and were picked up shortly afterwards by the steamer Margaret, from New York to Fernandina, and arrived at the latter place this morning. The passengers saved nearly all their personal effects. The gale is described as most terrific. A steamer is reported ashore to-night near St. Augustine, but it is impossible to learn anything definite.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

WASHINGTON, October 26.—The signal corps station at Cape Lookout, North Carolina, reports that the steamer Florence Witherbee is ashore, but will possibly get off with the high tide to-night or to-morrow. She is not injured.

SOUTHAMPTON, October 25.—The steamer Ely Rise, from Cardiff for Tybee, before reported sunk, was in ballast.

DERBY LINE, VT., October 25.—Learned, the proprietor of Learned's hotel, Cookshire, Quebec, was shot dead by a tramp whom he had refused whisky.

NASHVILLE, October 25.—A collision between two night trains on the Southeastern railroad occurred at Guthrie last night, telescoping one car and mashing three tramps who will die.

MILFORD, MASS., October 25.—The Comstock shop, a large three-story factory, occupied by E. W. Fane as a box shop, and Rafferty & Collins as a boot factory, was burned at midnight. The building of Green Bros., used for the extraction of oil, the boiler room and their heel factory also were destroyed. Total loss, $50,000; partly insured.

PROVIDENCE, October 25.—Esther Cahill, while insane, threw a lighted lamp at Father Rogers, a Catholic clergyman at Bristol, for announcing his inability to relieve her from pain. The room was fired, and the reverend gentleman seriously injured. His clothing was set on fire and his head badly cut. He escaped by jumping into a cistern.

CINCINNATI, October 25.—Henry W. Tyler, a noted desperado, in Lowell, Ohio, shot and killed his wife yesterday and then fatally shot himself.

CHEYENNE, October 25.—While en route to this city in the custody of William Ward, stage agent, Douglass Goodall, one of the participants in the late murder and stage robbery at Cannon Springs, escaped by throwing himself from the window of the passenger train at Lone Tree, Neb., and is still at large, although shackled. Of the treasure taken from the coach on the occasion, about $15,000 has been recovered. One of the robbers, Thomas Price, lies dangerously wounded in Deadwood, whilst two known to have been engaged in the same robbery, McBride and Carey, have not yet been captured. The former is known to have been wounded by one of the messengers. There are at present in confinement here and at Laramie four of the gang who, although the evidence is not clear that they were not in this last robbery, have confessed to having been in others.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

LOUISVILLE, October 26.—An excited crowd gathered in front of the jail last night, in which George Washington, who outraged Frances Otto on Sunday, is imprisoned. The police arrested the leader and dispersed the mob.

THE FEDERAL FOCUS.

Cabinet Etchings—Army Changes and Appointments—The Supreme Court Calendar.

WASHINGTON, October 25.—John Keener and Alexander Klutz have been appointed revenue storekeepers in the sixth North Carolina district.

The state department advices report that the Mexicans and Indians are raiding near "Wilson Ranche." They have killed three girls and boys. At the last accounts they were proceeding towards the Rio Grande with a number of stolen horses.

The cabinet session to-day was brief and destitute of general interest. There was some conversation concerning reports of the troubles at political meetings in South Carolina.

Some four hundred illicit distillers and tobacco blockaders are now under indictment at Statesville, N. C. They pettiion the revenue office for the same clemency as was recently shown similar offenders in South Carolina—that is, to be allowed, after pleading guilty, to have their sentences suspended during good behavior. The petition will probably be granted. Telegrams were read from parties in that state complaining of the difficulties there, but it was agreed that nothing could be done by the general government while the judicial processes are not resisted, and it is acknowledged they are not.

A western telegram says that troops left Fort Buford yesterday to intercept the Cheyennes, who have not yet crossed the Missouri.

The military committee investigating Fitz-John Porter will consider what action is necessary to take relative to Pope's refusal to appear before the commission.

The president has commissioned Edwin M. Shepard as a commander in the navy, and James M. Forsythe, Chas. M. Anthony and M. L. Johnson as lieutenant commanders. The Ticonderoga will be ready for sea November 15th, and will then make a trial trip to Norfolk. Commodore Shufeldt will join her in December for his commercial cruise to Africa.

C. E. Schmidt, of New Orleans, and L. L. Lewis, of Richmond, were to-day admitted to practice before the supreme court. According to reassignment on the calendar the supreme court will next month bear arguments involving the constitutionality of all laws relating to polygamy in Utah.

Army Quartermaster J. L. Belcher and A. L. Kimball are ordered to duty, respectively, to Charleston and Atlanta. Captain S. J. Strong is relieved from duty in the department of Texas and ordered to Arizona.

Notice has been given by the light house board that on and after December 1st a fixed red light of the sixth order, lighting the entire horizon, will be exhibited from the light house recently erected on Fort Ripley shoal, between South Channel and Folly Island Channel, Charleston harbor, South Carolina. The light should be seen in clear weather about twelve miles. Upon the establishment of this light the one at Castle Pinckney will be discontinued.

The official estimates of the amounts to be required for the postal service, during the next fiscal year, aggregate $36,571,000. It is estimated that the total postal revenues will fall short of supplying this sum by $5,507,876. The amount appropriated for the current fiscal year is $33,256,373, of which $3,222,274 comes from the general treasury. It is estimated, therefore, that $1,685,631 more than this year's appropriation from the treasury will be required for the next fiscal year.

THE RECEDING FEVER.

The Number of Deaths Decreasing—The Refugees Supplying Fuel.

VICKSBURG, October 25.—Weather clear and warmer. Interments to-day—1 from city and 1 from country. A number of new cases are reported among returned refugees. From Yazoo City and Delta there are no new cases reported. Ex-Sheriff Kramer and A. V. Brown, of Delta, are reported in a dying condition.

CHATTANOOGA, October 25.—Deaths: W. T. Monger, city recorder, and two colored persons. Four new cases—3 colored. Mayor Carlile's condition is unimproved. The weather is warm and unfavorable.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

Mayor Bullington, of Hernando, Miss., died last night. W. J. Holland, chairman of the Citizens' relief committee at Holly Springs, is dead. Dr. Mitchell, medical director of the Howard association, was presented with a handsome silver tea service to-night.

Jefferson Davis on Northern Aid.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Jefferson Davis from his home at Beauvior, not far from New Orleans, to a friend in New York, a few days before the death of his son:

"The time is at hand when frost may be expected at Memphis, and the effect it produces has usually been felt for several degress of latitude south of the place where it occurred. We are here surrounded by fever, and the circle steadily narrows, but my residence is so located that we may fairly hope not to be invaded by the infection. The disease, however, has this year some characteristics hitherto unknown, and the suffering has been and is more general and severe than of any previous epidemics. The noble generosity of the northern people in this day of our extreme affliction has been felt with deep gratitude, and has done more for the fraternization of which many idly prate than would many volumes of rhetorical assurance."

THE SHERMAN LETTER.

Jim Anderson Revises His Confession and Exonerates the Sneak.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 26.—The Herald this morning contained an interview with James E. Anderson, now in this city. Anderson clears up the mystery surrounding the Sherman letter, and exonerates the secretary from all complicity in the matter. He says that the authorship of the Sherman letter lies between Senator Kellogg and Conquest Clark, who was his private secretary at the time; that Mrs. Jenks never saw it; that the original is now in the possession of a gentleman in Philadelphia, and can be produced at any time, and that Senator Kellogg could exonerate Sherman at any time, and will do so as soon as the Louisiana appointments made in his interest are confirmed. The interview fills two and a half columns of the Herald, and embodies a racy history of Louisiana politics, including some interesting facts not heretofore made public. Anderson says he was made the dupe of Sypher, his cousin, and compelled to go before the Potter committee, and that Sypher got a fee of $3,500 by pretending he was Anderson's go-between.

THE NARROW GAUGE.

Colonrl Huelbert Exhausts the Subject

CINCINNATI, October 25.—At to-day's session of the narrow-gauge railway convention a paper, by Mr. Chase, of Chicago, upon transfers of freight between broad and narrow-gauge cars, was read and referred to the committee on transfer. An exhaustive paper on the question of gauge was read by Colonel E. Hurlbert, of Bedford, Ind., and was replete with statistics, comparing the cost of maintaining and operating the different gauges. He claimed that the amount of interest paid upon railroad bonds was greater than that paid upon the entire national debt, and this interest account alone, if invested in narrow gauge lines, would construct 5,000 miles annually, even at an average cost of $25,000 dollars per mile, while the cost of construction of the Colorado Central railroad through Clear Creek Canon was only $20,000 per mile.

Death of Gen. Whitney.

BOSTON, October 25.—General J. T. Whitney died suddenly to-night of apoplexy, as he was about to take a coach for home. He was commissioned a brigadier general by Governor Everett, made superintendent of the Springfield armory by President Pierce, and collector of customs of Boston by President Buchanan. He has been a leader in the democratic party of this state for many years.

A Valuable Seizure.

CHICAGO, October 25.—Special Treasury Agent Hindes, this morning, seized a mail package containing nine hundred and twenty-three precious stones mailed from Ceylon to Keokuk, Iowa. The package contains some very valuable jewels, including six hundred and ninety-six moonstones and a semi-sacred gem of India. They have been turned over to Appraiser Ham for valuation.

The Funeral of Bishop Rosecranz.

COLUMBUS, October 25.—The funeral of the late Bishop Rosecranz was held at St. Joseph's cathedral this morning. Bishop Foley delivered a short sermon commemorating the virtues of the deceased. After the solemn exercises were completed, the remains were entombed in a vault under the cathedral. An immense concourse attended. The flags on the state house were at half mast.

Cincinnati's $2,000,000 Loan.

CINCINNATI, October 26.—Regarding the application for an injunction against the issue of the two million loan for the completion of the Cincinnati Southern railroad pending in the superior court, it was decided that the loan was constitutional and the bonds legal, and the court refused to grant an injunction.

Snow Storm Out West.

CHICAGO, October 25.—Bismarck and Sidney, Nebraska, dispatches to the Inter-Ocean say that snow is falling rapidly in that region, and extending up the river from Bismarck 200 miles. It is the heaviest snow ever known in October.

The Fenians.

NEW YORK, October 25.—The Fenian brotherhood in their annual convention abolished the office of head-center, the duties of which will now devolve upon a general secretary.

Suppressing the Socialists.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

BERLIN, October 26.—Three more socialist associations in the district of Sewickau have been suppressed.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

SIGNS OF A RENEWAL OF THE WAR.

Russia's Preparations on a Grand Scale—General Dissatisfaction Evident—An Assassin Attempts the Life of King Alfonso of Spain, but Misses His Aim.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

LONDON, October 26.—The Standard publishes a sensational dispatch from Vienna, to the effect that Russia's military preparations are so vast that nobody can doubt that she is bent upon another conquest. The only question appears to be whether she will wait till spring or recommence the war before that time. Her excuse will probably be the outbreaks of Bulgarians, which were gotten up by Russian agents. A camp of sixty thousand men is forming at Kischeneff to replace the troops who crossed the Balkans southward. Russia refuses to evacuate Dabrudscha or Roumania until Roumania has concluded an offensive and defensive alliance. Russian agents openly claim that Maldavia, as far as Sereth, must become Russian.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says the semi-official Journal de St. Petersburg, commenting on references to the Afghan question in Sir Stafford Northcote's recent speeches, says: If Great Britain is aiming at the extension of its frontier in Asia, an attempt to carry out such policy might easily lead to serious complications.

A Constantinople dispatch says that Ariff Bey, president of the red crescent committee, has gone to Mecca, ostensibly to superintend the execution of the sanitary arrangements adopted at the approach of the Dourbanbarin festival. His real motive, however, is to confer with the pilgrims from India, Afghanistan and central Asia, who will reach Mecca in large numbers within the next month to influence them favorably towards the British policy, and adversely to Russia.

PARIS, October 25—The "Dix-Neuvieme Siecle" states that in consequence of the gravity of the situation between England and Afghanism, and the state of affairs in Turkey, the cabinet council held at Versailles yesterday will meet again to-day.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

LONDON, October 26.—Intelligence received from the Turkish frontier provinces states that the Albanian league, mustering 100,000 combatants, has resolved to resist to death the cession of territory demanded by Greece.

A Reuter dispatch from Vienna says that negotiations have been proceeding there during the last few days for the conclusion of an offensive and defensive alliance between Servia and Greece.

LONDON, October 28.—The Times, in a leading article, says: Russia ventures to stand in the way of the execution of the Berlin treaty because she trusts to forbearance of the other. A word, spoken in earnest by England or Austria would bring her to her senses in a moment. It is preposterous to assert that our hands can be tied by the Afghan difficulty. We must force ourselves upon Afghanistan to the exclusion of others who have no right there. Our course is clear. When we shall enter upon it is another question. It is certain, however, that the decisive campaign will not commence before spring. Our attention will meanwhile be given to carrying out the Berlin treaty.

LONDON, October 25.—A Pera dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says that the British vice-consul at Bourgas have been seriously assaulted by Russian officers. The Russians refused to allow the British man-of-war Condor to go to Bourgas.

A WOULD-BE KING-KILLER.

Alfonse Shot at in the Streets of Madrid.

MADRID, October 25.—As the king was driving through a street known as the "Calle Mayor," this evening, a man in a blouse fired a pistol at him. The king was unhurt and continued on his way to the palace amid acclamations from the crowd. The assailant was immediately seized by the soldiers and taken to prison.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

MADRID, October 26.—The would-be assassin is named Juan Moneasi, aged twenty-three. He is by trade a cooper. He is a native of Tanagona. He states that he is a member of the international society, and that the crime was premeditated. He arrived in Madrid about October 20th. His bullet struck nobody. Moneasi was rescued with difficulty from some women who wished to lynch him. All the foreign ministers and diplomatists in Madrid congratulated the king on his escape. A solemn "te deum" will be sung to-morrow. Judicial proceedings against the assassin have already commenced.

DULL KNIFE'S DEVICE.

The Indians Scatter Over the Prairies and Dig Rifle Pits.

CAMP ROBINSON, October 25.—Companies B and D, of the 3d cavalry, under command of Captain J. B. Johnson, captured a hundred and fifty Cheyennes under "Dull Knife," on Tuesday. The hostiles first showed fight, but afterwards yielded and were brought into Major Carlton's camp on Chadrone creek, where they were disarmed and their stock taken away. A courier from Chadrone creek this afternoon reports that when the hostiles were informed that their destination was Camp Robinson they refused to go, and scattering over the prairie commenced digging rifle pits with their hunting knives. They appeared to have rifles secreted, which they secured, having given up on a few old guns and revolvers. The artillery has been sent from here to shell them from their positions should they continue resistance. Considerable excitement prevails over anticipated trouble.

The fifth race—Grand steeple chase, won by Derby; Disturbance 2d, Lord Zetland 3d; time 6:15½. A dead heat between Governor Hampton and Bertha was run off and won by Bertha; time 2:45¾.

THE SANTA CRUZ INSURRECTION.

The Result of Swindling and Injustice.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, October 25.—The negroes who contributed largely to the insurrection in Santa Cruz were emigrants from the Barbadoes, whose time of service had expired, and who could not obtain their money from the savings bank, which was insolvent. They were refused their passports because they would not re-engage with the planters for another year, unless they paid $10 a head, the regular fee being 33 cents only.

The failures of Cattoon, Morton & Co., of London, and the transfer agents, Heugh, Bulfam & Co., of Manchester, have seriously affected this island. The former have fourteen plantations here, all of which have in a very large measure stopped cultivation and circulation of money.

FEDERAL TERRORISM.

Wholesale Arrests of Citizens by the Federal Authorities.

CHARLESTON, October 25.—District-Attorney Northrop and United States Commissioner Wiggins are in Kingstree, the scene of the Swails trouble, and under their directions the following persons have been arrested: G. P. Nelson, T. M. Gilland, J. S. Heyward, J. G. Smith, R. Norton, R. Henry Davis, J. G. Graham, W. D. Fitch, Hugh Cooper, Dr. S. D. M. Byrd, John Frierson, Dr. J. S. James, William M. Kinder, W. J. Lee, P. W. Sessions and J. A. Kelly. An examination was waived, and bonds were given by all parties for their appearance at the next term of the United States court. The affidavits were mostly made by negroes, and the charges are all under sections 5508 and 2520. Most of the persons arrested are charged with interfering with Swails in his advocacy of Rainey for congress, at the White Oak meeting. The others are arrested for giving Swails notice to leave the country.

DANIEL WEBSTER'S WIDOW.

The Queenly Old Lady of Eighty Whom a Reporter Discovered.

New York Star.

A dainty blue cap, with fluttering ribbons, worn by white-haired women, caught the eye of a reporter yesterday as he was passing the broad portico of the Leroy mansion in New Rochelle on the sound. Something in the face under the cap arrested attention. Bright hazel eyes contrasted strangely with the snowy ringlets of hair and the pale, almost expressionless, cast of features. Evidences were not wanting of advanced age, yet a graceful form, slightly above the medium height, made the possessor look stately in her old age.

"Who is that queenly old lady?" was asked of a gardener working near by.

"Mrs. Webster, sir; the widow of Daniel Webster."

The widow of Webster; seated alone, at the age of seventy-eight, within twenty miles of the great, stirring metropolis, a link between the busy present and the dead, historic past.

"Can you oblige me with an introduction, sir?" asked the reporter of Mr. William Leroy, who at that moment appeared on the ground.

"With great pleasure. Mrs. Webster is my only sister," returned the proprietor. "But," he added, "I am afraid she cannot converse much. Her mental faculties are so impaired that she is hardly cognizant of her surroundings, while the past is a total blank."

The reporter was presented to the lady, who received him with courtly grace. Chairs were provided on the elegant little piazza, and a pleasant half hour was spent in conversation.

"I am so glad you have come," was Mrs. Webster's first remark. "I know you admire flowers. Are they not pretty? Miss Woolbert has such a delightful little place, too. The prospect from my window would be better than this if there were not so many flowers."

"Do you read much now, Mrs. Webster?" queried the reporter.

There was no answer to this question, but simply a puzzled look. She turned appealingly to her relative.

The question was reiterated by Mr. Leroy, who at the same time picked up a newspaper from the floor. Then a look of intelligence lighted up the troubled face as she exclaimed: "Oh, yes; I read it through nearly every day."

Caroline Leroy, the second wife of Webster, was married to the great expounder in the city of New York early in 1847, and was constantly with him until his death, October 23, 1852. Mr. William Leroy and a brother living in Newport, R. I., are the only remaining members of the family.

A STRANGE MALFORMATION.

Death of a Man Who Could Control at Will the Pulsations of the Heart.

New York Sun.

Dr. Eugene A. Groux, surgeon of the 28th regiment, lately mustered out of the service, and a well-known practitioner in Williamsburgh, died on Tuesday night of uremiæ. in his residence in Meserole street, near Union avenue, Williamsburgh. Dr. Groux, who was forty-five years of age, was looked upon by members of his profession with special interest, because, having been born practically without a sternum (the sternum is the flat bone in the middle of the breast,) he could control and suppress at will the pulsations of the heart. He frequently gave exhibitions of this power to the faculty, and the last time to the students of the Long Island college hospital. Years ago he showed the power to Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, the poet, and promised Dr. Holmes that if he (Dr. Groux) should die first he would leave a request for Dr. Holmes to make a postmortem examination of his body for the benefit of science. Dr. Holmes was informed of his friend's death, but was unable to come to Williamsburgh to attend the postmortem examination, which was made yesterday afternoon.

There were present at the examination Professors Dalton of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Darling, Welch and Pilcher of the Long Island college, and Drs. Riedel, Brady, Hesse, Jewitt, Schlitz, Baker, De Long, Fuhs (who attended the dead man), Harbrecht, Quackenbos, Schmidt, Creamer, Feeley, Valentine, Miller, Hardrich, Johnson and Banks. The examination showed a deficiency of the breast-bone a congenital fissure of the sternum forked in shape between the second and third ribs, extending along and to the left of the median line. It has always been a disputed question among the faculty whether the outward indications of pulsation were caused by the aorta or right ventricle. This examination proved conclusively that they are caused by the right ventricle. A full report of the case is to be prepared.

There is said to be only one other case of malformation similar to that of Dr. Groux reported in medical books. It is that of a Mr. Thompson, of England. The account of this case is meager, and so all the more importance is attached to yesterday's examination.

Lorne's Family.

London Letter to New York Times.

For six generations, from the thirteenth to the fifteenth century, the head of this famous Campbell family received the honor of knighthood as a matter of course. In 1445 Sir Duncan was created Lord Campbell, and his grandson was made an earl, under the distinction of Earl of Argyle and Lord of Lorne. In 1641 the eighth earl was made a marquis by King Charles under peculiar circumstances. He had fought against the king and his allies, and as late as 1640 had marched against the earl of Athol, who was in arms for the king. Yet, in 1641, when the king visited Edinburg he sent for his foeman and made him a Marquis. In 1701, the tenth Earl was made Duke of Argyle, Marquis of Lorne and Kintyre, Earl Campbell and Cowal, Viscount Lochow and Glenilla, Baron Inverary, Mull, Morven, and Tiry. A man, one would think, might find it difficult to carry more titles than these; but the second duke, in addition to his hereditary title of Argyle, was created Baron Chatham, Earl of Greenwich and Duke of Greenwich. His brother, who succeeded him, was raised to the peerage before he came to the ducal honors, by the titles of Viscount and Earl of Isla and Baron Oronsay, Dunoon and Avrose. The fifth duke was made Baron Sunbridge in his father's life-time; while the sixth duke, before coming into the chief honors of the family, sat in the house of lords as Baron Hamilton. The younger branches of the family have also had honors and distinctions showered upon them. They have borne the titles of Earl of Athol, Earl of London, Baron Clyde, Baron Kintyre, Baron Campbell, Baroness Statheden, etc. The chief have been decorated with the Garter and the Thistle. They have exercised as much influence in English affairs as in Scotch. They have set up and overthrown kings; if they have never sat on the throne, they have carried the crown at coronations; they have been great in the senate and the field. One Argyle fell at Halidon Hill; another breathed his last at Flodden Field.

THE BONDHOLDERS' SUIT.

Judge Bond Refuses the Petition of the Dutch Bondholders.

RICHMOND, VA., October 25.—In the United States circuit court to-day Judge Bond declined to allow the Dutch bondholders to be made parties defendant to the suit in the matter of the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio railroad, as the trustees are acting for them as well as for the English bondholders. He stated, however, that should an occasion arise necessitating an appeal, the petitioners would then be considered the parties for that purpose. Judge Hughes dissented thinking that the petitioners ought to be made the parties now. The opinion of Judge Bond, however, stands. The court next took up the motion submitted by the trustees and English bondholders for foreclosure of the mortgage and sale of the road.

Professor Edison.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

NEW YORK, October 26.—Professor Edison has been prostrated by a severe attack of neuralgia. He is improving.

THE GREAT DAY.

ATLANTA TURNS OUT OF DOORS.

Oglethorpe Park Swarming With Humanity—The Largest Assembly Ever Held in Georgia—The Races—The Military Contest—And Items of General Interest Set Forth.

Yesterday was the great day of the fair, and the greatest fair day ever seen in Atlanta. All the public schools had holiday, and it was a general time of enjoyment. Most of the stores closed at 12 o'clock to allow their employees a sight at the fair and the great crowds it attracted. By noon there were fifteen thousand people on the grounds. Both grand stands were full and all parts of the exhibition were viewed by thousands of spectators. The crowd came principally from various points in Georgia, but several of our neighboring states were also finely represented. When the races opened there must have been on the grounds. Such a splendid crowd has seldom been seen in Georgia, and the entire multitude seemed to enjoy it finely. The feature of the morning was the military drill. There were three entries. The Dahlonega Cadets first went into the field and drilled finely under Lieutenant Girard's excellent command. The cadets show great improvement since their last drill in our city. They yesterday deported themselves in a manner to win the praise of all the vast crowd of spectators. After the Dahlonega Cadets our own Gate City Guards went in, and as usual did splendidly. They were commanded by Lieutenant Scrutchin, one of the finest drill officers in the south. Their manual exercises were the best ever seen here, and in the field movements they executed the most difficult commands with a surprising ease and grace. Our boys were heartily applauded time and again on their drilling. This is probably the best drilled company in Georgia. At any rate they are willing to meet any in the state in a tilt at tactics.

The last company to appear on the grounds was Company K of St. Louis. They were commanded by Captain McKoy, formerly of the Oglethorpe Infantry of Augusta. His men covered themselves with honor yesterday. Their movements were peculiarly brilliant and beautiful. In the fancy field movements they surprised all, and elicited loud applause from the thousands who watched the drill. Such proficiency in the minutiæ of tactics was never before seen here, and the enthusiasm it created was due both to its novelty and its excellence. The entire company moved as one man, and went through their movements with an exactness that seemed to be mechanical. When they ceased to drill the crowds cheered time and again for the gallant sons of Missouri. The judges were United States officers and they awarded the first prize of $450 to the St. Louis Cadets. The Gate City Guards won the second prize. Our boys have no reason to be ashamed of a place just behind such a company as the St. Louis Cadets.

THE INDIVIDUAL PRIZE

of $25 was warmly contested for, but was won by Sergeant Sullivan, of the St. Louis Cadets, amid loud cheers.

The Stevens' medal for the Georgia championship, won last year by Corporal Rheinhardt, of the Gate City Guards, was won by Private Everett, of the Dahlonega Cadets. He is an Atlanta boy and has been at school in Dahlonega three years or more; yesterday he bore off the laurels over a long line of competitors, and has reason to be proud of his victory. He was heartily congratulated by his friends over his brilliant victory.

After the military drill the day's fun seemed to be at its height. The vast crowd swayed gaily in the glee of the day. All was as smooth and happy as could be, and the gods of pleasure ruled the hour. It was indeed and few who participated in its pleasures will ever forget it.

THE RACES.

The first race was a race of two mile heats with four entries and all starts. Bill Dillon was the favorite at first, but Jim Bell soon came to the front, and led slightly in the pools, the bets being about $20 to $18, with Speculation and Silver Maid in the field at $3. The betting was very heavy, the friends of the favorites backing them strongly. When the horses were called to the track, Speculation, a promising but an uneasy horse, was off his feet and could not be persuaded to come to the stand. The start that the horses got at last was ragged and unsatisfactory, Speculation being several lengths behind. Silver Maid took the lead from the string, and held it twice around. Jim Bell then shoved ahead, and after sticking to the mare's flanks for a while went to the front and passed under the string in this order. On the last turn there was a desperate struggle between Bell and Dillon for the lead. They ran neck and neck until they reached the home stretch, when Dillon forged ahead and poked his nose to the front, winning the heat by a half length. Speculation came in third, holding just the distance he had in the send off. Silver Maid went to the rear, but came in good faith. Time, 3:43¾.

In the pools at the close of the first heat, Dillon was a lively favorite, but Jim Bell still found backers, and the field got an occasional taker. The pools were light, however, everybody seeming to be doubtful. The horses got a better start on the second heat than before, several off in a bunch. The mare went to the front as usual, and held her lead for the first mile and a half. Jim Bell then let himself out and got a good head, but Jim Dillon at once seemed to think that his work was cut out for him, and he settled down to a death-and-do struggle. He and Bell went neck and neck for the whole distance up to within a few yards of the string. Both horses were strained to the utmost, and it was by the very bitterest work that Dillon ran his nose a shade ahead and won by less than a neck, closing the race. A more hotly contested race was never seen on any turf, and it whetted the appetite of the crowd for the great trotting race that was to follow.

SECOND RACE.

A trot for the Gate City cup and a purse of $1,000—three entries. In this race the three starters were about equal in the pools, Scott's Thomas being a trifle the liveliest. There was a great deal of money put up, and the interest of the week centered on this race. The horses were all in the very best condition, and some fine work was expected. We learn that the judges informed the drivers of the horses that if they did not make their best time they could not make their money. The send off was a good one, but the heat was not satisfactory at all. It was hardly better time than Spider and Chieftain made. It may be that the horses were out of condition, but there certainly was great disappointment at the trotting. John H. started off at the pole and hugged it close, having a good lead. Scott's Thomas followed in a good business trot, Lew Scott breaking up on the first turn and did not get his feet until he was badly behind. He forged along, however, at a lively trot, and the horses came under the string bunched together. On the second turn Scott's Thomas broke up badly and ran near to the outer railing, letting Lew Scott get the second place. These positions were held until the home-stretch was reached. Lew Scott then pushed up a little, but did not go to the first place, and John H. came under the string winner of the heat.

The pools were unchanged at the close of the heat, as there was a general feeling that it was not an index to the final result. The betters were chary about taking pools, and there was consequently much money put up between the heats. When the horses were called to the stand it was seen that they were sharply warmed up, and it was hoped that they would make better time. They got a good start but Scott's Thomas broke badly before they had covered any ground. Lew Scott went to the lead and by hugging the pole kept it all the way. John H. trotted steadily, and it looked for a while as if he would steal Lew Scott's place. But there was no change, and Lew came under the pole with daylight shining between her sulky and John H. The time was much better than the first heat, going down to 2:30¼. It was still thought by those who professed to know that the horses had 3 or 4 seconds margin on this time. We learn that Scott's Thomas driver said a day or two since, that it would take less than 2:25 to win the purse. After the heat in the pools, Lew Scott was the favorite by heavy odds, but there was not much money put up, as there was still a feeling of uneasiness about the time the horses were making. There was a prospect of a long race and a stubborn contest, as different horses had won the first two heats. The third heat opened in fine style, and it was apparent from the start that it meant business. The horses all got down to work handsomely, and soon tilted out with Lew Scott in the lead. There were some pretty spurts on the long stretches, but both of the other horses broke on the turns, and she held her lead, coming under the pole the winner of the heat in the good time of 2:29¾.

The fourth and last heat was trotted in good time, but in an uninteresting manner. Lew Scott took the lead and kept it, no other horse pressing him at all seriously He trotted around twice without winning a shout from the spectators, who were astonished at seeing the other horses so far behind. The heat was made in 2:28. We suppose, of course, the horses were driven for all they were worth, but the race did not give satisfaction.

At the close of the heat Colonel W. C. Morrill stepped to the railing and announced that the races for the day were closed

A better week's sport was never seen on any turf, and everybody was delighted with the result.

PROGRAMME FOR SATURDAY.

Gates open for visitors at 8 a. m.

At 9 a. m. final examination of articles and awards of premiums in departments not yet finished.

At 11 a. m. the competitive drill of the colored military companies will commence. Four crack companies, one from Augusta, two from Atlanta and one from Macon, will push each other hard for the prizes. The military committee will see that the parade will be kept clear of all but the companies drilling and judges.

At 2 o'clock the mule race will commence. Immediately thereafter there will be a race run for the consolation purse for beaten horses; purse $100, of which 2d to receive $25; mile heats.

Upon the close of this the foot race for $25 in gold will take place, and the races of the meeting will close with a handicap for trotters—$50 entrance, $50 added. Entries for all four of these races close at 12 m. today, so that it would be premature to give those already made, though enough have entered to insure a lively scramble in all of them.

The last feature of the fair will then occur. The choirs of at least 20 colored churches will assemble on the parade and sing "The Sweet Bye and Bye," accompanied by the band, and perhaps several others. Thus will end the grand fair of the North Georgia Stock and Fair association.

MESSRS. JARVIS & STOKES.

Among the very finest display at our fair is that of Messrs. Jarvis & Stokes, manufacturers of carriages and buggies. This staunch firm exhibits a fine line of buggies, phætons and sewing machine wagons, the finest of which is perfectly superb. The goods sent out from this manufactory stood the test, and are pronounced fully the equal, if not superior in workmanship, to those sold by northern manufacturers. The members of this firm are masters of the business, and know how to combine style and durability in the same price of work. The vehicles which they manufacture are beautifully trimmed and tastily finished. Their factory is located at No. 44 Line street, Atlanta. Only the very best of workmen are employed, and nothing but the very best in their line is ever offered for sale. A Spence & Jarvis buggy will soon be seen on every corner if the popularity of this fair continues to grow.

Yesterday the judges of the merchants' display awarded to Messrs. Jarvis & Stokes the first prize for pony phætons. The vehicle is a perfect model for beauty and style. The finish is superb and the mountings tastefully arranged. We are convinced that a more beautiful piece of workmanship we has never been seen. A visit to the merchants' hall and an inspection of the display of Messrs. Jarvis & Stokes will repay any one. All of his goods are manufactured of the finest quality, and their durability cannot be questioned. Give them a call and see for yourselves.

CARRIAGES AND PHÆTONS.

A day or two since we alluded to the display of carriages, buggies and phætons at our fair, exhibited by Mr. J. M. Smith, one of our leading manufacturers of these goods. We feel that Mr. Smith deserves additional mention, from the fact that on yesterday the judges of this department awarded him the premium of $100 for the best general display of work in this line. Mr. Smith captured also eight other premiums for buggies, carriages and phætons. His display was one of the handsomest we have ever seen at a fair, and we are satisfied that the judges thought the same. The vehicles manufactured by this house are made of the best material that can be procured in this or northern markets. The finish of the vehicles goes to show that Mr. Smith employs none but first-class workmen, as every piece of trimming is put in its place with the greatest taste. Mr. Smith as a workman has no superior in his line and knows well how to put up a vehicle that will attract attention and give satisfaction. All of his workmen are first-class and his work equal to the best ever brought to this city from northern markets. With such a workman in our midst it would be folly to send north for anything in Mr. Smith's line.

THE RACING TO-DAY.

A Fine Programme—Running, Trotting and Pacing.

The four days of racing at our fair, according to the programme arranged by the directors of the association, closed yesterday. The fine racing which we have witness has brought forward a general desire that more racing should be had to-day so as to arouse the large number who will finish up the week in our city. The directors at a meeting last night arranged three races for to-day, which we give below. The mule race will take place immediately after the conclusion of the racing programme, which is as follows:

First race—running; consolation purse; mile heats—in which Bonnie Itaska, Silver Maid and Springlett are entered.

Second race—trotting. In this the following horses will start: Alice West, to wagon, and Scott's Chief and Chieftain, to harness; mile heats, best three in five.

Third race—pacing. Sleepy George will pace against 2:20.

In the pool selling last night, in the first race, Bonnie Itaska sold for $20; Silver Maid, $13; Springlett, $10. In the trotting race, Alice West sold for $10; Scott's Chief, $6; Chieftaid, $6. Only one or two pools were sold in the pacing race, as follows: Sleepy George, $10; time, $6.

Pools will be sold at the track to-day.

FAIR NOTES.

Good races to-day.

Plenty of fun on the grounds to-day.

The big show is not over till to-night.

Look out for a dozen negro excursions to-day.

The attendance on the present fair has been by far the largest ever known here.

There were thirty thousand people in the streets last night to see Rex and his royal retinue pass.

Atlanta has given a fair to be proud of. She has also accommodated the vast crowds with exemplary enterprise and patience.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

BOSTON, October 25.—Hartwell, the conductor who was charged with having caused the accident at Wollaston on the Old Colony railroad, is adjudged guilty of manslaughter and held for trial in December. Engineer Hurlburt, of the freight train, is adjudged guilty of gross negligence, while the engineer of the excursion train, it is declared, was not a suitable person to have charge of the train, as he was not familiar with the track, switches, etc.

Georgia Minstrels.

These minstrels, composed of several members of the original Georgia Minstrels, and other experienced performers, aided by the orchestra of the 13th United States infantry band, give a performance at the opera house to-night under the management of Mr. G. W. Kates. A highly enjoyable evening is promised.

Block, with a resolution offered in regard to, that the whole matter be referred to the general assembly without action by synod, reported on the latter, recommending that it be not adopted, which report of the committee was adopted, and the synod adjourned till 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Friday's Proceedings.

MORNING SESSION.

The synod met, and after prayer by the moderator, proceeded to business. The place and time of meeting of the next stated meeting were fixed at Greenville, the first Wednesday before the fourth Sabbath of October, 1879, at 7:30 in the evening.

A communication from the chairman of the faculty of the theological seminary at Columbia, in relation to the financial condition of that institution, was presented and referred to the committee on the seminary.

The stated clerk of the presbytery of Savannah presented certain actions of that presbytery by its directors to the synod relative to the matter of sitting of that presbytery to a proposed synod of Florida, and a memorial from certain churches of that presbytery on the same subject was laid before the synod by Rev. D. K. McFarland. Both were referred to the committee on bills and overtures.

The committee on judicial business presented its report on the appeal of F. E. Block against the action of the presbytery of Atlanta on his appeal against the action of the session of the Central Presbyterian church in his case. The report was received and adopted after striking out all that related to limiting members as to time.

It was ordered that both accused and accusers be allowed to be represented by two persons, each being members of the synod, as counsel. The commencing of this case was made the order of the day for 3 o'clock.

The synod then heard Rev. Dr. J. N. Waddell, secretary of the assembled committees on education, in reference to the condition of that cause, after which the thanks of the synod were voted to him for his interesting and important address.

A memorial to the synod from the heirs of Mr. ——, constructor of buildings of the Oglethorpe college at Midway, was presented through Rev. John Jones, of Atlanta, and its consideration made the first order of the day for to-morrow morning.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, the body adjourned to meet at 3 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The synod met at the appointed hour, and the regular order, which was the "Block case," was taken up. It was agreed that no new testimony would be heard, and that the case should rest upon the evidence already elicited and given to the public through the press and now on record upon the minutes of the Atlanta presbytery and the general assembly. This evidence, together with Mr. Block's defense, was read and other steps taken in the case. The body then adjourned to meet this morning at 9 o'clock.

The discussion of the case will begin this morning, and it promises to be a very lively one. The prosecution and the defense are ably represented, and every inch of ground will be hotly contested. An idea of the result cannot be gotten at, as the members of the synod are very much divided upon the various questions that will arise in the case. The church was crowded yesterday during the session, and as public interest in the case is very great there is every reason to believe that the church will be jammed to-day. It is thought that the trial of the case will last the remainder of this and the greater part of the coming week.

Bob Ingersoll on Stingy Men.

I despise a stingy man. I don't see how it is possible for a man to die worth $50,000,000 or $10,000,000, in a city full of want, when he meets almost every day the withered hand of beggary, and the white lips of famine. How a man can withstand all that, and hold in the clutch of his hand $20,000,000 or $30,000,000, is past my comprehension. I do not see how he can do it. I should not think he could do it any more than he could keep a pile of lumber when hundreds and thousands were drowning in the sea. Do you know I have known men who would trust their wives with their hearts and their honor, but not with their pocket-books—not with a dollar. When I see a man of that kind, I always think he knows which is most valuable. Think of making your wife a beggar! Think of her asking you every day for a dollar or two dollars, or to humbly beg for fifty cents. "What did you do with that dollar I gave you?" Think of having a wife that is afraid of you! What kind of children do you expect to have with a beggar and a coward for their mother! Oh, I tell you, if you have but a dollar in the world, and you have got to spend it like a king, spend it as though it were a dry leaf and you the owner of unbounded forests. That's the way to spend it. I had rather be a beggar and spend my last dollar like a king than to be a king and spend my money like a beggar. If it's got to go let it go. Get the best you can for your family and look as well as you can yourself. When you used to go courting, how nice you looked! And your eye was bright, your step was light, and you just put on the very best you could. Do you know that it is insufferable egotism in you to suppose that a woman is going to love you always, looking as bad as you can. Think of it! Any woman on earth will be true to you forever when you do your level best.

A New Charity.

From a letter to the Cincinnati Commercial.

A new charity has sprung up in New York. A few days since I was walking past 122 Worth street, and on the front door of what used to be a lager-beer saloon I read this notice:

GOOD NEWS FOR WORKING MOTHERS.

This is a nursery where children under five years of age will be received and cared for daily from half-past six a. m. to seven p. m. The children will also receive daily medical attention. For further particulars apply to Mrs. Miles, at the Nursery, from half-past eight to nine a. m.

On entering the building I found two matrons attending to over thirty little children and babies. Eleven cradles stood in a row. The babies were all the children of poor mothers who were out and engaged at their daily labor. This charity was established by Mrs. Miles, who takes care of and feeds these children every day. They receive one meal a day. For means to carry on this charity Mrs. Miles depends upon public charity, which up to this time has sustained her nobly.

Among the children were two blind girls, twins, whose mother went out to work. While I was there the mother came for them. As soon as she entered the door and before she spoke the little blind girls jumped away from their playfellows and ran to their mother. Instinct seemed to teach them that she was near.

Children coming to the nursery with dirty clothes are immediately redressed in clean clothes belonging to the matron. These they wear all day. Many of these toilets have been worn by rich children up town. It is amusing to see how proud the little waifs are dressed up in their temporary Fifth avenue toggery. It is also very sad to see their regretful, longing look when the nice dress is taken off at night and they have to put on their old clothes again to go back to their poor and badly-ventilated homes.

THE member of congress who votes to pay any more marshals of election practically announces that he will not seriously be a candidate for re-election.

ONE of Felton's most famous organs compliments us with the title of "Gaping Idiot." The same organ alluded to General Gordon as a "blatherskite." We consider ourselves ornamented.

GREENBACKS must be an unconstitutional currency, or else Mr. Arnold would never have made affidavit to that effect. We submit the matter to the consideration of the voters of the fifth district.

MR. HAYES' pursuit of pumpkins will have to be abandoned in the course of another week, or else the country will be deprived of some expected chapters in the annual message. A week will not suffice for the preparation of a satisfactory explanation of the civil-service reform business.

THE money power is trying to make it appear that nearly all the democrats who voted to repeal the resumption act have or will be defeated, either in caucus or at the polls. In their lists of the defeated appear as big as life the names, "Hartridge and Felton, of Georgia." This is enough to make Georgia laugh from the mountains to the seaboard and all along the edges.

THE competition among the fever-infected or fever-endangered towns for the best polar record is astonishing some of the older inhabitants. Frost is of no account, and even a fall of snow is snubbed. Nothing short of ice of great but indefinite thickness seems to satisfy. We wish that every town in the south might for once, and at once, have all the northern weather that it desires.

THE editor of the Burlington Hawkeye, standing upon the other side of the bloody chasm, waves his hand like a whitewood flower and declares that the war is not over. We, upon this side of the line, read and wonder if it will ever be over. We are very much inclined to believe that the sutlers do more damage in peace than they do in war. But, in the meantime, let the procession move on.

GOLD-GRABBING is becoming more intense than ever in Europe. Just now the Bank of England is paying a premium for eagles and doubloons in order to perfect its privilege to issue the circulation that it inherits from the Bank of Glasgow. The Bank of England falls heir to the circulation of any English, Scotch or Irish bank that fails. The general grabbing for gold which is going on on both sides of the water is becoming fearful. All values sink as gold rises.

THE supreme court of the United States has just decided in a case against the city of Charleston that a city cannot promise to pay to her citizens a certain legal rate of interest for moneys borrowed, and afterwards call half or three-quarters or one-quarter, or any portion, of that interest back, through the exercise of the power of taxation or in any other way. This is one of the most important decisions that the court has ever rendered. It will operate to keep the bonds of solvent cities at home, whereas now the interest is in many instances paid to foreign holders.

Our Timber Supply.

The best wooded country in the world begins to see that even its forestry resources are by no means inexhaustible. The present rate of consumption is much greater than people generally believe it is; it is in fact enormous. The annual demand for ties and sleepers of our 90,000 miles of railway is estimated to be 40,000,000 square feet, and to inclose the roads would require 180,000 miles of fence. We have 75,000 miles of telegraph wire to put up, for which 800,000 trees are needed, while repairs would need near 300,000 more trees a year. The common lucifer match uses up 300,000 cubic feet of the finest pine annually. The bricks baked every year require 3,000,000 cords of wood, which would be all that 50,000 acres of average timber land would contain. Shoe pegs exhaust annually 100,000 cords of wood; lasts and boot-trees some 500,000 cords of beech, birch and maple, and about as much more is required for the stock of planes and other tools. The packing boxes made in the United States in 1874 cost $12,000,000, and the lumber manufactured into wagons, agricultural implements, etc., was worth over $100,000,000. Our fences alone, according to Mr. Dodge, late statistician of the agricultural bureau, have cost our people $1,700,000,000, nearly half of which consists in value of material, and the annual cost of repairs is estimated at $198,800,000. An iron furnace that burns charcoal, if in full blast, will consume all the wood around it for three miles.

We need not enumerate more demands upon our timber supply for the purpose of showing that the consumption is immense. And it is annually increasing; and so are our foreign shipments, which are already very large. It is estimated by Hon. George P. Marsh and other competent and careful observers that at the lumberman's estimate of 333,000 feet of lumber to each forty acres our total consumption of timber for all purposes would demand the clearing of twelve million acres of woodland every year. This is an area equal to that of Vermont and New Hampshire combined. When we remember that the destruction of woodland has been going on for over a century, we begin to appreciate our approach to a timber famine. An examination of Professor Walker's statistical atlas shows that the woodland of fully one-half of the country does not exceed sixty acres to the square mile.

These facts are full of interest to the people of Georgia. We have an immense area of valuable timber. Our stock of hard woods is almost as extensive as are our coniferous forests. But neither are inexhaustible; neither should be subjected to waste; for consumption will soon call for both, and that, too, in inviting terms. Carefully husbanded and rightly marketed, the forests of Georgia are sufficient to double her wealth. Forty millions of people are chopping towards us at a rate that is ruinous to them but pleasant to us. The blows of the advancing axes and the buzz of the saws are music in our ears.

The German Socialists.

The German chancellor, after a fruitless appeal to the people, after equally fruitless negotiations with the vatican, effected a compromise with the national liberals, and thus secured the passage of his anti-socialist bill by a vote of 221 to 149. This compromise, with his old-time supporters, robbed the bill of its most obnoxious features. The full text has not been received, but it is known that the retroactive clauses have been stricken out; that the summary suppression of newspapers for a first offense is prohibited; that socialist agitators cannot be expelled from the place where they reside for more than six months, and that a right of appeal is given, but the choice of the president of the coast is given to the emperor; that limitations are imposed upon the power of the police to make arbitrary arrests, and that the operation of the entire bill is limited to thirty months. These amendments take from the bill its worst features, but still it is felt that free speech and a free press are practically abolished until the bill expires by its own terms. The sixteen presses of the socialist party will doubtless be stopped, and under the fearless guidance of Bismarck, the police force will practically be the supreme law. If this condition of things results in no injury to the cause of German liberty, the German people will have great reason for congratulations over their escape.

Prince Bismarck will doubtless make a strong fight to stamp out, by means of the bill, the disease of socialism; but his success is very problematical. He will doubtless be able to drive it from the eyes of the people; it will not be an active force in open politics as it has been; but will not he inaugurate a secret socialistic campaign that will prove more dangerous than the existing order of things? The growth of socialism has been extraordinary of late. In 1867 Berlin had 69 socialist votes; in 1871 it had 1,961; in 1874 it had 11,971; in 1877 it had 31,522; in 1878 it had 56,336. These figures are official; they show a gain in the past year of 25,000 votes. The two cities of Berlin and Hamburg together polled 80,000 social democratic votes. Of course it has not been in the same proportion all over Germany, but everywhere the gain is considerable. This growth is due in great part to the hard times that prevail throughout Germany, and to the almost intolerable burdens of the enormous military establishment. While these causes exist it is by no means probable that even Bismarck, behind the most sweeping force bill ever devised, could stamp out so formidable a growth. He did not succeed so well with the Catholics, whom he fought in a similar way, and he may well be glad if, at the end of March, 1881, socialism does not exist in more dangerous forms than it does at present. Force bills have never in the history of the world proven a good substitute for public sentiment.

New Books and Magazines.

Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., of Philadelphia, send us a volume of story and adventure entitled "Thirty Years at Sea." It is a very interesting volume, but altogether without scope or aim. If we were wearing our critical spectacles we should say it was a trifle tame, and that the style was so much constrained as to leave the impression that the author is unused to the practice of putting his thoughts on paper. But we are not critical, and we are compelled to admit that the lack of rhetorical finish imparts a certain degree of strength and freshness and piquancy to the style. In the latter portion of the narrative the author invades Georgia, and for this reason the story—if it can be called a story—possesses a certain degree of interest for Georgians. The illustrations are wonderful examples of what art can do in a hurry. Their designer wisely refuses to stamp them with his sign-manual, but we can assure the reader that they are unique in every respect.

The publishers of the Army and Navy Journal send us a "Manual for Rifle Practice," by General George W. Wingate. The manual includes suggestions for practice at long range, and for the formation and management of rifle associations. This work was first put forward as an experiment, but it has now passed through six or seven editions and has been thoroughly tested. When the work was first prepared few Americans took an interest in the subjects of which it treats, but now there is not a community of any size or significance in the country that does not have its rifle associations. In view of this fact, the author has incorporated in the appendix such information as to the general management of such associations and as to the conduct of matches as he considers will materially lessen the difficulties of inexperience.

Scribner's Magazine, for November, has been upon our table several days; and while we have made several quotations from its pages—notably "The Spelling Bee at Angel's," by Bret Harte—we have until now been unable to give even a summary of its contents. It is enough to say that it is the best number that has yet been issued of the best magazine ever published in this country; chiefly because Mr. Harte's poem recalls something of his old-time vigor and humor, and because Mrs. Frances H. Burnett begins her story of "Haworth's." To those who have read "That Lass o' Lowries," it is perhaps needless to say that her new story will form one of the chiefest attractions of the magazine for many months to come. And we predict now, after reading the opening chapters, that it will be one of the most successful novels ever written by an American author—and something more. The frontispiece of the magazine is a crayon sketch of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, by Wyatt Eaton, engraved by Thomas Cole, to accompany a critical and biographical sketch of the poet from the delicate pen of Richard Henry Stoddard. The article and the engraving that accompanies it are both remarkable in their way. The other most notable contributions are: "Johnny Reb at Play;" "A Wind Storm in the Forests of the Yuba;" "The Apparition of Jo Murch;" "A Night with Edison." Altogether, as we have said, the November number of Scribner is the best issue of the best American magazine.

What we have said of Scribner we may with equal truth and propriety say of St. Nicholas, the children's magazine, issued by the same firm. The November number is especially good. It is not surprising that the New York Tribune said of it: "St. "Nicholas has reached a higher platform, "and commands for its service wider re- "sources in art and letters than any of "its predecessors or contemporaries;" or that the London Literary World has said: "There is no magazine for the young "that can be said to equal this choice "production of Scribner's press." St. Nicholas can bear critical examination. In the poetry we recognize the pure spirit of tenderness and sweetness born of a love of children, or enjoy the genuine fun and delicious nonsense in verse that are an outgrowth of an intimate knowledge of the child's merry heart. We may read the stories, to find fiction made wonderful in interest and ennobling in influence, or examine the sketches to to see the skill with which science may be made intelligible to young folks. St. Nicholas has its fairy tales, quaint, fanciful stories, and accounts of travel and adventure. Its writers aim to make history more attractive than ordinary fiction. The lives and works of great and good men and women are made fascinating to the eager young reader. The articles on special topics of natural history, that have appeared from time to time, combine instruction and entertainment in a rarely happy style, and their illustrations are exquisite.

The Eclectic Magazine, for November, comes promptly to hand, filled as usual with the cream of the world's literature. The more attractive articles are: "Giordano Bruno and Galileo Galilei;" "French Home Life;" "The New Principle of Industry;" "Age of the Sun and Earth;" "The Poetic Place of Matthew Arnold;" "The Old Home;" "Cyprus;" "Brockden Brown, the American Novelist;" "A Ballad of Heroes;" "Macleod of Dare;" "The Plantin Museum at Antwerp;" "Child's Play;" "The Speaker of the House of Commons;" "Our Dream."

A RESPECTED exchange compares the defeated Mr. Hewitt to a blade of grass. Comparisons are sometimes odorous. Grass is green.

THE fact that Mr. Abram S. Hewitt will not go back to congress may fill the common mind with awe; but the reflecting portion of the republic will not view the information with any degree of alarm. Mr. Hewitt has had his day—and a very bad day it was for the democratic party. The failure of Mr. Hewitt to receive a renomination creates no anxiety in this section.

WHEN we learn that Hewitt has been dropped we know that the democratic party is recuperating, and that the general sanitary condition of the body politic is good.

THE New York Herald is just now engaged in giving the democratic party advice. If the democratic party had a voice in such matters, it would undoubtedly advise the Herald to part with a majority of its present editorial staff, and in saying this we mean to cast no very severe reflections upon the Hon. James Gording B., whose intellectuality has for years been the guiding star of his vast journal.

REX put his best foot foremost last night, and it is nobody's business if he wore a number nine brogan.

THE Cincinnati Commercial insists that John Sherman ought to be hanged to a lamp-post. This is merely a matter of taste. We would prefer to see John swing up to a lithe sapling. And we have no idea that John would have any objections.

WHEN the time comes it will be found that the swayback democrats in the fifth district are few and far between.

WE said the other day that the radical organs always gathered around and supported a man upon whom fraud was proven. Whereupon, the Burlington Hawkeye facetiously observes that the organs are warmly supporting Mr. Tilden. Softly, friends, softly! Has anything been proven upon Mr. Tilden? If so, when, and where, and how much? We ask for information.

WITH Hewitt, Glover and Manton Marble sent to the rear, we do not see what better prospects the democrats could want.

MR. GLOVER will not be returned to congress from Missouri. Mr. Glover's constituents ought to congratulate themselves upon getting rid of him so easily and effectually. Ten to one that he doesn't institute an investigation and find all of them guilty.

THE attitude of the Felton organs is enough to convince any reflecting man that the doctor is defeated.

GEORGIA is indeed the empire state of the south, in progress, enterprise and all that goes to make up a state.

THE success of the fair has been pronounced, and, in the language of an eminent Georgian, is "another proof of Atlanta's (p)luck!"

"OLD JOE JOHNSTON" is just walking into congress from the Richmond district. His bogus greenback competitor has evidently sat down on the roadside to rest until "next time."

THE Macon Telegraph and Messenger says: "Mr. F. H. Richardson, of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, is contributing over his initials a series of sketches to that paper which abound in beautiful language and graceful thought."

THE Elmira Advertiser goes on because THE CONSTITUTION said Joe Johnston would be chairman of the military committee. The Advertiser forgets that Hayes came near putting him at the head of the war department.

GOVERNOR COLQUITT'S address to the three thousand colored people who [illegible] to hear him in Liberty county would knock the stuffing out of all the bloody-shirt campaigns in the north. It ought to be circulated.

—In California the Chinese servant is useful because he wears soft-bottomed shoes and is a good witness in a divorce court.

—Miss Aiken, the niece of Mr. Carlyle, who keeps his house at Chelsea, is a pretty and clever young lady, about twenty years old. She has bright eyes, soft brown hair, and an intelligent expression.

—The greatest effort of Mr. Conkling's life will be to keep himself from being kicked to death by some of the political dark horses.

—The western whangdoodle, tough citizen, smooth coon, Sunday loafer and baby mine are esteemed contemporaries in Kentucky.

—Ostrich farming has become a very important industry in South Africa. Over $1,500,000 worth of plumes were exported from Cape Colony last year.

—James Gordon Bennett, the papers announce, has sailed for Europe. It may humble that haughty country to be told that it was created merely for Mr. Bennett to sail for.

—The anti-socialist bill will soon become a law in Prussia, and the chap who gets up and says the world owes him a living will get a cheap living in jail, or, maybe, won't get any living at all.

—The man who goes to the theater should go there with the firm intention to keep his seat if a panic occurs, and to walk out after the rest are gone and go straight to a newspaper office and tell a truthful story.

—The Wood brothers, who are opposing each other for congressional candidates in New York, are named William A. and Walter A., and the truly impartial voter will cast his vote for W. A. Wood.

—Memphis Avalanche: The great plague of 1878 is of a more venomous character than ever known. One black frost will not kill it, nor two. It will take a week of cool, frosty weather to clear the air of the yellow fever poison. Absentees must heed the admonition of our medical authorities.

—A site has, says the British Medical Journal, been secured for erecting a crematorium near London by the cremation society of Great Britain, and Mr. Eassie, C. E., has been instructed to erect upon it a pyre of the kind designed by Gorini and now in use at Milan.

—M. Victor Hugo is as strong as ever, and is at work upon two new poems. One of the chief delights of his life is playing with his two grandchildren, Georges and Jeanne Hugo. They are beautiful and merry little creatures, and their gambols are sure to divert the poet in his bluest moods.

—The island of Giglio, between Leghorn and Civita Vecchia, was lately put up at auction for the total sum of 23,000 francs, being an average of 92 francs for each property. There were about 300 proprietors of the 130 vineyards, 34 houses, and 62 fields. A vineyard was put up at 15 francs, and a house at 37 francs 20 centimes.

—The Roman emperor wrote "I have lost a day," when twenty-four hours passed without his doing a good action. Edison when he don't invent anything in that time takes a piece of chalk and writes on a board "another day busted"—the word "busted" being a Greek term signifying in this connection "inappropriately expended."—Detroit Free Press.

—It is about time, young man, for you to withdraw from society and become a nun for the next three months, or else save up every last nickel you can earn and borrow for Christmas presents. This advice, it may seem to you, is a trifle early, but you just think of it Christmas eve, and you will wish you had commenced about the fourth of July.—Burlington Hawkeye.

—It appears to be the settled conviction in Bulgaria that a foreigner will be chosen as the future prince of that country, but he is expected to marry a Bulgarian lady in order to satisfy the people. The position of prince of Bulgaria in itself will not be very attractive, and this last condition will very probably diminish the number of candidates to a very appreciable extent.

—On the 6th of October a "project" of a revised constitution was submitted to a vote of the people in Switzerland and overwhelmingly defeated. The result is regarded as a serious check to the radical democratic tendency of the present administration. The opposition to the new constitution was occasioned mainly by the power of supervision it was proposed to give the government over education and religion.

—Mr. Moody, the evangelist, will devote his energies this fall to work in Baltimore; but, as there is no building there available for holding large meetings, he will go from one church to another, paying his attention to one church at a time. He hopes to get time for theological study this winter. He gave up his trip to the continent with Sankey on account of the necessity of speaking there through an interpreter. Mr. Moody says he was never feeling better physically in his life than at the present time.

—One of the incidents of the failure of the City of Glasgow bank is related in the case of Rev. Mr. Spence, of Galashiels. He had his moderate patrimony invested in the shares of the bank, and had resigned his charge for the purpose of taking his wife to Italy for the benefit of her health; in fact, had sent her there, and was preparing to follow. Just as he had given up his income from his parish, his entire means were swept away by the failure, leaving him in an awkward predicament, from which his people relieved him so far as they well could by reinstating him as their pastor.

—A prudent lover in Renfrewshire, Scotland, has declined to marry his sweetheart, because his small fortune is in City of Glasgow bank stock, and he fears he might have, as her husband, to meet the calls thereon. Of the well-to-do shareholders of the broken bank one is worth £200,000, two are worth £150,000 each, five £100,000, three £50,000, three £40,000, six £30,000, three £25,000, twenty £20,000, seventeen £15,000 and eighteen £10,000 each, their total estates amounting to £2,360,000. The total list fills nearly two pages of an Edinburgh newspaper. Among the stockholders, scores of whom will lose every penny they have, are many executors and guardians and very many women.

—Within the past few years quite a number of fatal collisions and runaway accidents have occurred in the Central park. Mr. Butler, who was thrown from his wagon and killed there on Sunday, turns out to have had quite a history of his own. He was 42 years old, and worth over $1,000,000. He landed in this country a poor, barefooted boy, and worked his way up from 25 cents a week in a cotton-batting factory to be proprietor of the Elm flax mills at Hart's falls, the largest in the country. Had he lived he might have been one of the richest men in America. The great aim and ambition of his life was to be the sole owner of the factory that he entered 25 years ago a poor, ragged boy. This he accomplished one week before his death by purchasing the interest of the last remaining owner for $500,000.—New York Letter.

—Prince Bismarck has been followed by shoals of threatening letters to Varzin, Kissingen, Gastein, and the Wilhelm Strasse. Whithersoever his steps have been bent, in quest of health, these productions have dogged him with regularity. Nor are the chancellor's nerves what they formerly were. Since Kullmann attempted his life at Kissingen his old scorn of risk and his indifference to menace have diminished. When in Berlin he confines himself almost absolutely to his house and garden, which are carefully watched at all times by policemen in plain clothes; if compelled by his official duties to visit the palace he drives thither and back in a close carriage, with the windows up, sitting well back, so as to be invisible to passers by. Varzin is as carefully guarded and as difficult to penetrate as Mecca itself; and at Lauenburg his park has just been surrounded with a high wall, shutting it completely in from the public ken.

—The New York democratic delegation in congress loses its two best representatives in the dropping out of Clarkson Potter and Abram Hewitt. Potter was given a renomination, but declined it; Hewitt was not alluded to in his district's convention, and the nomination was given by John Kelly to a man whom the delegates called to ratify the Boston delegation protested they had never heard of—Orlando B. Potter. The new man is a native of Charlemont, in Franklin county, spent two years at Williams college and studied law with Mr. Hayes at Cambridge, practiced his profession awhile in Boston, but removed to New York twenty-five years ago, and has grown rich by real estate speculations and as president of the Grover & Baker sewing machine company. He will make a respectable congressman, but the loss of Mr. Hewitt is greatly to be regretted. Mr. Potter is succeeded as democratic candidate by Marcius L. Cobb, a brother-in-law of Speaker Randall, but Horace Greeley's son-in-law Smith is making a hopeful fight as a greenback candidate.

Mothers with Marriageable Daughters to be Won Over.

Baltimore Gazette.

We sincerely hope that the story which comes to us from St. Louis to the effect that Hon. Samuel J. Tilden is about to unite in the bonds of wedlock, with a bell of that city, is true. Nothing has been more lacking in Mr. Tilden than domesticity and a recognition of the grand law of matrimony. Thousands of mothers with marriageable daughters have been prejudiced against Mr. T. on account of his bachelorhood and their influence, working upon husbands and brothers, has damaged him very much politically. We hope that the St. Louis lady, who is to share Mr. Tilden's fortune and board, is endowed with the usual quantity of western pluck, and that she will not be turned from her noble purpose by the publication of cipher telegrams or other injurious and defamatory inventions of depraved minds.

Lieutenant Benner.

Augusta Chronicle.

The memory of such a man should be honored for all time to come. He has proven that the age of chivalry has not passed, and that greener laurels can be gathered in the charnel house of pestilence than on the stricken field. But while the south admires and honors, she has a duty to perform. It would be a blistering shame to let the wife and children of this martyr to humanity suffer because of his heroism. God alone can bind up the bruised and bleeding hearts, but the southern people can secure the loved ones against physical suffering, privation and want. That they will do this we have no doubt. Let them in every town and city raise a fund for the family of the brave man who died in their behalf.

Sherry-Champagne Nerves.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

If the words "greenbacks" and "greenbackers," "currency," "finances," "capital" and "labor," "inflation," "resumption" and a few others of the same sort could be banished utterly from the newspapers and from men's lips for one month, we should all feel at once that we had just recovered from the painful effects of a violent fall from a fiery, untamed nightmare, and should wonder how we ever stood so infernal a racket without being driven to insanity or suicide, or both.

He Would not Wait.

New York World, anti-Tilden.

As little faith do we put in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat when it tells us that Governor Tilden is about to marry a belle of St. Louis in three months from now. For in the first place if Governor Tilden were about to do such a thing he would not wait three months to do it. And in the next place he would not let even the belle of St. Louis know that he meant to do it so long beforehand. The story is nothing but a cipher telegram badly translated.

Lieutenant Benner's Children.

Memphis Appeal.

A movement is on foot in St. Louis to build a monument to the memory of Lieutenant Benner, commander of the national relief boat, who died of yellow fever at Vicksburg. We trust that Vicksburg will not thus allow herself to be forestalled in a work that is peculiarly hers. The hero's services should be commemorated in a suitable monument, and his children should be adopted as the wards of the Hill City.

All Tickled.

Philadelphia Times.

It is satisfactory to hear that General Sherman is pleased with the army just now. Sometimes he isn't. The general has been known to complain bitterly about its condition, but he says he never saw it so satisfactory as at this writing. All branches are in accord; the officers love the men and the men love the officers. It is a pretty picture and would stir up envy in the peace society, if the P. S. ever permitted its feelings to rise.

Samuel J. Tilden's Good Luck.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Is has been stated in the Globe-Democrat as a rumor more than once that Mr. Samuel J. Tilden, of New York, was engaged to be married to a St. Louis belle. We are now authorized to say that the wedding will take place within three months, and that it will be the good fortune of Mr. Tilden to make Miss Nellie Hazeltine the future mistress of his heart and home.

Old Virginia's Opportunity.

Washington Post.

Our friends in Virginia should not lose a moment in sending to Massachusetts all possible information respecting the value and cheapness of their lands and the inducements to immigrants of means. If Ben Butler is elected there will be the largest exodus of grown people that has occurred since the Israelites said good-bye to Pharaoh.

A Poor Day for Republicans.

Baltimore Gazette.

Thirty states of this paternal union elect members of congress on the 5th of November. There will be a crush of matter and a wreck of type in the newspapers of the 6th and the festering carcasses of at least three hundred ambitious statesmen will strew the plains from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It will be a great day for the republic and a poor day for the republicans.

The Atlanta Circuit.

Augusta Chronicle.

It is held by some that the legislature should elect a judge of the Atlanta circuit, while others deny that an election is necessary under the new constitution. The whole matter of the election of judges and solicitors should be referred to the judiciary committees of the two houses as soon as the session commences.

Troubles Tumbling to Tilden.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Now Sam Tilden has done it. The old man has decided to marry. Tilden has an idea that the women worked against him at the last election, and he is going to marry to try and appease the gentle doves. How trouble does seem to come all at once.

The Issue in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia Times.

The issue in this state, to be decided this day two weeks, divested of all its fustian, is whether or not the people will ratify the gift of Simon Cameron of a seat in the United States senate to his son Don.

The South's Opportunity.

Richmond State.

An appeal for the relief of the destitute family of the late Lieutenant Benner is made. Here is an opportunity for the south to make some return for the munificent charity north.

My Doll's Wedding.

My dear little dolly was married;
A sweet little wedding we had;
She married her cousin from Boston,
A red-cheeked and one-legged lad.

She was dressed all in white silk and lace,
With wonderful red 'rocco shoes,
And he in fine velvet and gold braid;
To admire him she did not refuse.

The cake was filled all full with raisins,
The frosting ran over the top,
And apples and cookies for each one
With candies we bought at the shop.

And Jenny and I held the dolls up,
They were ready to faint with the heat,
In front of dear mama, the priestess,
Who sat straight on the bright crimson seat.

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

The Warrenton Clipper is as lively as ever.

Albany has negro fights whenever she wants them.

The Dahlonega gold mining company are making extensive improvements.

Mrs. Abner McGehee, formerly of Georgia, died recently in Alabama at the age of eighty.

In the lower portion of the state boys of fifteen are attempting to marry girls of eleven.

The gin-house of Mr. Jasper Hill, of Quitman county, was burned recently with some thirty bales of cotton.

A monster mass meeting will be held in Lawrenceville on the 29th, on which occasion General Gordon will address the people.

Judge Jackson Graham, of Gwinnett county, lost his gin-house by fire recently. This is the second gin he has lost in the last few years.

If Dr. Felton is elected, he will run for governor, and if he is defeated, he will run for governor. What are we going to do with him, anyhow?

John Gorman's orange orchard in Florida bears all the year round. Irresponsible paragraphers who comment on this should bear in mind that the orange orchard is not to blame.

Mr. John T. Waterman, of the LaGrange Reporter, was in the city yesterday, and attended the fair. He is the same genial companion as of old. Time brings many changes, but it doesn't change our old-time friend—except for the better.

Ex-Governor Herschel V. Johnson has seen proper to deny a vague report to the effect that he is the author of Corker's letter of acceptance. Of course Governor Johnson has his ideas about such things, but why he should take the trouble to deny the authorship of such a letter is a mystery to us. Its paternity is visible.

One of the features of the fair is the daily edition of Frank Gordon's Grange and Planter. It is well edited, compact and newsy, and is appreciated on all sides—if there are any sides. This will be one of the features of the state fair also, for Frank promises faithfully to repeat the dose. Seriously, the enterprise is not only commendable, but meritorious.

Albany News: The favorable fall has enabled farmers generally to keep well up with harvesting the matured crops. Never perhaps in the history of our great staple, cotton, has it been known to open so early. September has been about as active a month to the farmer in gathering and marketing cotton, and to the merchant in trade, as October ordinarily is. There is consequently now, the first rush being over, a comparative lull in business, brought about in part also by the declension in price, which a crowded market usually superinduces. From inquiries made of intelligent farmers in different parts of the country we have the gratifying intelligence that the corn crop is generally quite good, early corn being better than for years past, while the yield of cotton far exceeds the expectations of the farmer generally some weeks ago. The potato and pea crops, whose value every judicious farmer so well knows, are in the main very good. The present low price of cotton is but repeating the lesson, pronounced before so often, and with so much emphasis, that sound policy and self-protection alike demand that the farmer should raise first of all his home supplies and make cotton his surplus crop. The general inauguration of this wise policy will mark a new era in real wealth and right progress. When shall it begin?

Savannah News: After nearly twelve hours of disagreeable "winter drizzle," the weather cleared off about twelve o'clock Tuesday night, but there were apprehensions of serious damage along the coast, as "Old Probabilities" had given information of a violent hurricane working up in this direction from the gulf. About quarter to three yesterday morning a very heavy rain set in and continued until nearly dawn, when the wind, which had been quite high, increased to almost a gale, and the thermometer fell several degrees. During the morning Sol asserted his supremacy and dissipated the lowering skies and favored us with a most delightful and charming day. The bark New Republic was loaded with lumber bound from Brunswick to Rio Janeiro, as stated. On Tuesday she was boarded by the pilot boat, J. R. Wilder, about twelve miles south of Tybee waterlogged. Pilot Ambose was placed on the vessel to bring her into Tybee, and on Tuesday a steam tug was dispatched to her assistance, but was prevented from proceeding far on account of the dense fog prevailing, and the vessel could not be discovered. Yesterday morning the tug steamed out but could see nothing of the bark, and up to our latest advices she had not been discovered. It is feared that some serious disaster may have befallen her during the terrible blow early yesterday morning.

Talbotton Standard: On Thursday morning last, at half-past 3 o'clock, the town was aroused by the alarm of fire. It required only a minute to locate the burning, which proved to be the large flouring and grist mill of Messrs. Persons & Dozier. The flames were first discovered at half-past 3 o'clock, and seemed to have caught on the northwest corner of the engine shed. In a few moments the entire building, three stories in height, with all its valuable contents of machinery, grain, cotton, etc., was in flames. Twenty or thirty bales of cotton, lying near the press, were rolled off and saved. Large crowds assembled to witness the progress of the flames, but were powerless to make any headway against them. The entire structure burned to the ground in little more than an hour. The following were the losses sustained in cotton: Thomas Freeman, three bales; George Baldwin, two bales; Persons & Dozier, three bales; Adam Jones, colored, one bale; Mrs. T. A. Brown, four bales; Mrs. C. Cottingham, one bale; General Bethune, one bale. Of wheat Messrs. Persons & Dozier lost one hundred and fifty bushels and Mr. T. N. Gibson forty bushels. Messrs. Persons & Dozier also lost one hundred bushels of corn, and about five hundred bushels of cotton seed. The total valuation of cotton, grain, etc., burned was about twelve hundred dollars. The fine Gullett gin with the press near by were also consumed. The mill property was the largest in the county, and cost, in 1869, eight thousand dollars. The proprietors sustain a very heavy loss, having no insurance. It is reported that the property will be rebuilt. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is supposed to have been accidental.

The Atlanta Hospital.

Chattanooga Times.

The Atlanta physicians returned home yesterday afternoon, having rendered our city valuable aid when it was badly needed. They, seconded by the generous citizens of Atlanta, have done noble service, working faithfully and fearlessly and meeting with excellent success in their practice. Chattanooga will remember Drs. Lee, Olmstead and Knott as those who came to her help in time of danger, and will delight to honor them whenever the opportunity offers.

Dr. Hope yesterday afternoon took charge of the Atlanta hospital, and we feel confident will forward the work begun by the Atlanta physicians to good success. Active, energetic, careful, he will manage the hospital as economically as is consistent with thorough and watchful care of his patients. The institution could have fallen into no better hands.

LIVER REMEDIES.

DR. M. W. CASE'S Liver Remedy AND BLOOD PURIFIER Tonic and Cordial.

This is not a patent medicine, but is prepared under the direction of Dr. M. W. Case, from his favorite prescription, which in an extensive practice of over twenty-seven years he has found most effective in all cases of disordered liver or impure blood. It is

ANTI-BILIOUS.

It acts directly upon the liver, restoring it when diseased to its normal condition; and in regulating the activity of this great gland every other organ of the system is benefited. In Blood Diseases it has no equal as a purifier. It improves digestion, and assists nature to eliminate all impurities from the system; and while it is the cheapest medicine in the market, it is also superior to all known remedies. While it is more effectual than Blue Mass, it is mild and perfectly safe, containing nothing that can in the slightest degree injure the system. It does not sicken or give pain; neither does it weaken the patient, nor leave the system constipated, as do most other medicines.

It Cures Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Billous Fever, Headache, Sick Headache, Water-Brash, Heartburn, Sick Stomach, Jaundice, Colic, Vertigo, Neuralgia, Palpitation of the Heart, Female Irregularities and Weakness, all Skin and Blood Diseases, Worms, Fever and Ague, and Constipation of the Bowels.

In small doses it is also a sure cure for Chronic Diarrhœa.

Taken two or three times a day, it prevents Yellow Fever, Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever, Cholera, and Small-Pox.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN DOCTOR Use Dr. Case's Liver Remedy and Blood Purifier, a pleasant Tonic and Cordial. ANTI-BILIOUS.

And save your doctor bills. Only 25 cts. a bottle. It is the most effective and valuable medicine ever offered to the American people. As fast as its merits become known, its use becomes universal in every community. No family will be without it after having once tested its great value. It has proved an inestimable blessing to thousands who have used it, bringing back health and strength to those who were seemingly at death's door. Prepared at the Laboratory of the Home Medicine Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

The Constitution.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 26, 1878.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Hon. Josh Hill, of Madison, is in the city.

Captain W. Butler Hudson, of Griffin, was in attendance upon our races yesterday.

Colonel J. H. Fain, of Calhoun, was in the city yesterday.

Dr. D. T. Johnson, of Griffin, is in the city.

Captain D. Clinton Bacon, of Savannah, is at the Kimball.

Mr. Wallace T. Trammell, one of the leading young merchants of Griffin, is on a visit to our city.

New Era (Longview, Texas): On Sunday Mr. Frank M. Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., fell out of a hay-loft in Waco, and died from the effects of the fall.

Yesterday we had a pleasant call from Mr. James E. Brown, editor of the Henry County Weekly, one of our choicest exchanges. The Henry County Weekly is always a welcome visitor to our office.

Charlotte Observer: Mr. Davis, formerly of Atlanta, an employee of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line railway in this place, had his left arm badly crushed while coupling cars Wednesday.

Mr. Reuben Credille, of Greene county, and his accomplished daughter, Miss Alice, are in the city in attendance upon the fair and visiting their relatives. Time has dealt kindly with the father and kindlier with the daughter. We trust they have enjoyed their visit as thoroughly as their friends have enjoyed their society.

SIDEWALK NOTES.

Georgia minstrels to-night.

Opera house to-night, the Georgia minstrels in a choice programme.

All of the stores were brilliantly illuminated last night.

Few arrests were made by the police last night for violation of city ordinances.

Bailey, the funniest darkey in America, at the opera house to-night.

Be sure to obtain good seats at Phillips & Crew's for the Georgia minstrels to-night.

The streets were packed with visitors yesterday and on last night. Walking was quite difficult by reason of the immense crowd that was out.

Charles McKeever, Will Clayton and Tom Brown were arrested yesterday by the police for larceny and locked up at the stationhouse. All of these are negroes.

The late Mr. George C. Douglas.

The curt terms of an ordinary obituary notice will not be deemed by the friends of the late George C. Douglas, who died in this city on yesterday, sufficient commemoration of the departure from earth of a spirit so high and noble, of a nature as pure as wrought gold, as unselfish and trusting as the heart of a child. The deceased gentleman was well known in this community, where, some years ago, he was engaged in business. His connection with the interests of Atlanta was continued—after his removal from our midst—by reason of his connection with the New York Underwriters' Agency, of which he has been for several years a prominent and able representative in the South. A tenderer tie binding Mr. Douglas to Atlanta was the fact that here he casually met for the first time, as she was en route to her home in Columbus, the charming lady who became his wife and the mother of the dear little boy that his father now leaves to renew his lofty manhood which so illustrated his own life.

Mr. Douglas was but thirty-four years old. He came of the best Virginia and North Carolina stock. His father is Dr. George B. Douglas, of Savannah, who in him loses his only son. His mother was a sister of the late Governor Ellis, of North Carolina. Despite his youth and the drawback of extremely low health, for a long period, Mr. Douglas had attained a very high position in his profession as an underwriter. The great corporation, whose interests he so ably and faithfully represented, will not easily supply his place.

To his son George Douglas he leaves the inestimable legacy of a character unmarred by one unmanly trait, unstained by a single questionable act. To his friends he leaves precious memories of generous affection and willing sacrifice for those he loved.

Vale, in æternum vale.

Bishop Beckwith will preach at St. Luke's Church, corner Walton and Spring streets, to-morrow at 11 a. m.

REX IN HIS GLORY.

HIS TRIUMPHANT MARCH LAST NIGHT.

The Grandest Procession Ever Witnessed in Georgia—Gorgeous Appearance of Rex—Thousands of People Line the Streets—A Festive Night—The Rex Ball.

The Rex parade last night was a revelation!

For several years we have had in Atlanta a sort of annual masquerade that afforded much amusement to our people, but was utterly without method of arrangement. It was simply an aggregation of grotesque masqueraders, arranged as each masker thought best, with a gentleman in a stereotyped cloth of cheap ermine at the head as the king. While this procession was the occasion of considerable fun, there was nothing in it that commanded the presence of visitors or paid them for coming. After these Twelfth Night processions had continued for several years, many of the gentlemen who had been instrumental in getting them up determined to change the character of the entertainments and mold them in a larger scale. It was determined to organize in Atlanta a brotherhood that would give to the Atlantic states a carnival display like the famous Mardi Gras of New Orleans. A reorganization was thereupon effected, and a great deal of new blood infused into the brotherhood, and preparations were made for the first display, it being determined to spend $10,000 if necessary to make the show what it should be. The very best people of our social and commercial community went into the organization, and it was strong in character and finances. A subject was chosen and the costumes and trappings were ordered in Paris by a gentleman who visited that city, and the preparations were quietly but rapidly made for the coming carnival.

THE DISPLAY OF LAST NIGHT.

The display last night far more than exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine. It lifted the motley show of the past years into an orderly and beautiful display that entranced all the spectators. The subject chosen for representation was "the Triumph of Ferdinand and Isabella," and five beautiful tableaux were presented. The streets were sparkling with light all the time, and when the procession passed it was a bewildering blaze of beauty. Such a gala night was never witnessed in Georgia.

It was a season of fun, revelry and joy. Everything seemed to be mad with frolic. The sound of music, trumpets, bells and laughter sounded over the whole city, while the thousands of gamins kept the air bright with rockets, fire-balls, Roman-candles, etc. The city was handsomely illuminated, and everything was as bright as day. A novel feature was the city carts all full of negro boys bearing torches charging all over the streets.

THE GAYETY AND BRILLIANCY

of the scene were simply indescribable. It looked as if every human being in Atlanta was on the streets. The thread of the story was carried by five enormous floats, each one a superb tableau, being a separate scene. We cannot possibly describe these floats. They were gorgeous beyond anything that we can write. The "floats" were 30 or 40 feet long and over 30 feet broad, and the figures were so high that the telegraph wires had to be removed. The costumes were appropriate and striking, and everything was strictly correct in its details. The floats were lighted by means of powerful colored lights concentrated on each picture. There was no bobble or flaw in the whole thing, and the Atlantese were all proud and gratified, while the visitors were hilarious and delighted.

THE HORDE OF UNATTACHED

was a grotesque combination, led by the "lord of the workers," a comical fellow of infinite fun. Grouped with these odd fellows were the advertising wagons, carts, etc., and the people had plenty of fun watching the royal jesters and their friends. The procession was scattered over a length of nearly a quarter of a mile. It took it twenty minutes to pass a given point. The king and his suite made a glittering appearance, and the whole city bowed in glad obeisance as his majesty passed. After passing in review through the principal streets, the actors and the tableaux vanished, as if by magic, and the crowd, feeling that the king had retired inside the royal walls, gave up to unbridled fun and revelry. The night was a perfect success, and the universal exclamation was that it was the greatest glory that Atlanta ever won. The prevailing sentiment was one of wonder and surprise at the elegance and brilliancy of the designs.

The Rex Ball.

After the procession through the crowded streets, on which thousands and tens of thousands flocked to see the king in his royal splendor, the opera house was the scene of attraction. The entire pit was covered with a fine dancing floor which made an unusually fine ball-room. Long before the procession ceased the circles and galleries were filled with ladies and gentlemen in full evening dress, presenting a scence of rare brilliancy and beauty.

After the procession was ended the members of the brotherhood presented the tableaux which were pronounced beautiful. The scenes represented were:

1. Boabdil and Mirza.
2. Almomen.
3. Ferdinand and Isabel.
4. Leila, the Sacrifice.

All the scenes were presented so perfectly as to elicit applause from all spectators. After the tableux, the brotherhood danced two sets in costume, presenting an interesting spectacle in their historically correct characterizations. Then occurred the ceremony of

CROWNING THE QUEEN.

The king, seated on his superb throne and surrounded by his faithful subjects, signified his wish to choose from the fair ones before him a queen fit to sit by his side and share the honors of his royalty. He sent forth his heralds commissioned to do his will, and they brought to the throne Miss Lucy Lockett, of Griffin, one of the belles of the state. She most gracefully accepted the proffered honor, and the scene was beautifully enacted. Then the general festivities set in for good.

The combined string bands of the 13th and 18th United States infantry made such delicious music that dancing was a rare luxury. The floor of the ball-room was full of ladies in superb toilettes, arranged with the most exquisite taste. Atlanta society was very finely represented, and our sister cities were also honored by the fair appearance of their daughters. The assembly was peculiarly select and brilliant. The programes of the evening were beautifully designed in unique perfection.

Dancing began at half-past ten and continued until the morning hours sped silently upon the happy scene. A more elegant ball, better managed or in all respects more enjoyable has never been known in Atlanta. It was the Rex ball of all we have had. Henceforth the Rex nights will mark the great social events of the year. Such an assembly of beautiful women, splendidly dressed and attended by such handsome men as was seen in the opera house last night is a spectacle seldom to be witnessed. There were hundreds of spectators besides the participants in the pleasures of the floor. The management out and out was excellent. All things moved off in peculiar smoothness. The solemn tones of the early hours of morn were the signals for a dispersal which all regretted. The ball will be memorable in the list of Atlanta's social successes.

—The Emperor William's advisers have been loth to allow him to return to Berlin, because during his sojourn at Gastien nearly every mail brought him anonymous missives warning him that attempts upon his life would be renewed—this time with such precautions as would insure their success. The persistence and vehemence of these warnings have aroused considerable alarm in his immediate entourage, and even caused a certain degree of uneasiness to the emperor himself, who is one of the most courageous men living. A year ago his majesty would have laughed at such fantastic menaces and monitions, of which he has received many hundreds since he ascended to the Prussian throne. He could never be induced to attach any importance to them, nor to believe that any German could be found base enough to raise his hand against the life of his sovereign, but now his confidence has been much shaken and he will never consent to have an escort, or that police precautions shall be taken (which, indeed, would be in vain against a regicide armed with a rifle,) so his advisers are in despair. Bismarck receives similar missives in abundance and his nerves are not what they used to be. Even the crown prince comes in for hints that after his father his turn will come, and precautionary arrangements have been organized at his residence at Fotsdam.

Visitors must not fail to call at 28 Whitehall street, and examine those beautiful Pianos and Organs, if they want to secure the best instrument for the least money. Don't fail to get a "real bargain" of Well-Toned Systems.

Systems toned and renovated with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are most effectually defended from disease. That supreme invigorant soon overcomes that distressing feebleness consequent upon ailments which impoverish the blood and relax the muscles. Vigor, appetite, sleep return to the wasted frame, and every physical faculty gains greater activity through its benign influence. Nor is this all, for the Bitters have a most genial and cheering effect upon the mind of the despondent invalid, which is the natural effect of the increased bodily vitality which they produce. Nervous symptoms disappear in consequence of the use of this medicine, and the evil consequences sure to result from a premature decay of the physical energies are averted. Dyspepsia, liver complaints, rheumatic ailments, urinary and uterine irregularities, malarial diseases, and many other disordered conditions of the system, are remedied by the Bitters.

We noticed a fine three-spring Delivery Wagon being shipped yesterday by Mr. N. C. Spence, from his Carriage shop on Decatur street, to Rome, Georgia, made to order for Messrs. Hill's & McDonald, furniture dealers of that place. Mr. S. has large experience in the manufacture of fine Express and Delivery Wagons, and we can recommend him to all who contemplate purchasing a first-class vehicle. Parties ordering first-class work from Mr. Spence will be fairly dealt with, according to agreement. Since Mr. Spence opened business on June 1st, his shop has been run to its full capacity on order work, consequently he is unable to make any exhibition at the fair.

An Undeniable Truth.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault, and there is only one excuse for you—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, etc. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent, and not a Druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you.

Too Late for the Fair.

Prof. Freyer has a large variety of splendid Pianos and Organs intended for exhibition at the fair, which did not arrive until to-day. But they can be seen now, 28 Whitehall street, and he will be glad to have you examine them fully and be convinced that you can get the "very best" instruments from a thorough musician and workman, perfectly reliable and oldest dealer in Pianos and Organs in the city. As General Southern Agent, and as he buys only for cash, he can sell at strictly "wholesale prices" and save you $25 and upwards, by "buying" direct from him. Each instrument fully warranted for five years.

I run two departments that are entirely separate from each other. I buy all my goods for my wholesale room from Agents, Importers and Manufacturers, for CASH. I keep a resident buyer in the Northern Markets all the time, and when he sees a line of goods selling for less than their real value, he ships them to me, and I soon place them before my customers, UNDER MY SMALL PROFIT PLAN.

Dress Goods.

The largest stock in the market, including all the latest French Novelties, Silks, Satins, Velvets, Alpacas, Cashmeres, Tamise, Henriettas, etc. Also, good variety Damesse Silks.

Cloaks.

These goods I have manufactured expressly for my own trade, and selling the immense quanty that I do, in my wholesale house, enables me to offer them to the public at a saving of 20 per cent,

I also have an immense stock of Shawls, Blankets, Bed Spreads, Quilts, Comforts, Shoes, etc., which I am offering at very low prices.

I buy my Cashmeres by the solid package and in great variety. In this way I save one-fourth in buying, and can satisfy you that you can save the same by buying them of me.

Others may imitate me, but none can compete with my goods and prices.
